

Brantwood Specialist School is a wholly owned subsidiary of Ruskin Mill Trust, which offers a holistic student-centred approach to the education and care of 7-19 year olds for students who are on the autistic spectrum and who have not succeeded in mainstream provision.

Maths Teacher plus responsibility Lead (SEND)

Salary Range: £18,867.54 - £33,473.97 (A further £2500 is offered to the post holder to take on added pastoral responsibilities associated with the Class Teacher role, where relevant)

We have an exciting new opportunity at Brantwood. The school provides a child-centred curriculum, adapted to each child's developmental and learning needs, and the opportunity to discover each child's path to lifelong learning, offering a variety of educational programs designed to meet the needs of students with developmental delays, social and sensory sensitivities, Autism, SEMH and learning difficulties.

We are seeking a Special Education Teachers and leaders who specialise in the subject area of Numeracy who as part of the school's middle leadership will take the lead to plan, co-ordinate and quality assure in their given area. This is to ensure that the subject is consistently well planned throughout the school and quality assured on a regular basis. In this role you will be ensuring the pupils engage in learning and achieve by providing practical, experiential and therapeutic education through careful planning of the structure, methodology and delivery of the learning experience.

In order to be successful in this role you will:

- Qualified Teaching Status
- As subject Leader experience of co-ordinating, leading and quality assuring your subject area of Numeracy/Maths
- Experience of the National Curriculum framework
- Have experience of working with young people with differing needs and destination aims, and developing appropriate strategies to help them achieve their goals
- Excellent communication and organisational skills with practical approach to engaging pupils
- Have experience of working with children/young people with special educational needs and learning disabilities who may be on the autistic spectrum
- Have experience working across multiple keystages
- Have experience preparing students for examinations and assessments
- Ideally has experience teaching at GCSE or at A-Level

Working at Brantwood Specialist School is rewarding and in return, we offer competitive salaries with progression in pay once qualified, and a private pension scheme. In addition, staff receive:

- A comprehensive cross trust interactive induction to experience our unique curriculum from the students' point of view.
- 33 days annual leave (including bank holidays) increasing with your length of service with us
- Excellent professional development including opportunities to student at Master's Level and contribute to the Trust's research

The post is subject to satisfactory references, an enhanced Disclosure and Barring Service (DBS) check for both adults and children, medical check, evidence of qualifications plus verification of the right to work in the UK. Brantwood Specialist School is committed to safeguarding and promoting the welfare of children and young people and expects all staff and volunteers to share this commitment.